Lob down their heads, dropping the hides and hips;
The gum down-roping from their pale-dead eyes;

%ures holding the hands. sockets for the lights in their extended

A similar image occurs in Vittoria Corombona, 1612 : " — he showed like a pewter candlestick fashioned like a man in armour, holding a tilting staff in his hand little bigger than a candle."

The following is an exact representation of one of these candle-sticks, now in the possession of Francis Douce, Esq. The recep-tacles for the candles are wanting in the original. The sockets in which they were to be placed are in the outstretched hands of the figure.

The form of torch-staves may be ascertained by a wooden cut in vol. xiv. p. 372, STEEVENS.